CITY NOTES.

Gettlemen's Driving Club races Thursday, 3 p. m.

The sale of seats for Roland Reed begins this morning at the Academy of Music box office.

There will be a meeting of the board of managers of Florence Mission Tuesday at 10 a. m.

The amount of taxes collected in this city last year for school purposes was $174,617.71 and for the support of the poor $54,922.46.

The Pastors' Union will meet at Y. M. C. A. rooms this morning, at 10:30. Officers will be elected for the ensuing six months and other matters of importance will come before the meeting.

The exchanges at the Scranton Clearing House last week were: Monday, $139,883.67; Tuesday, $117,094.53; Wednesday, $121,120.05; Thursday, $141,667.85; Friday, $108,838.89; Saturday, $130,047.50. Total, $703,012.43.

The ladies of the McCall Mission Auxiliary will hold a meeting at the residence of Mrs. Townsend Moore, 1730 Capone avenue this afternoon at half past three o'clock. All interested in the work are cordially invited to attend.

Hon. Gorman, son of E. Gorman, made a trip from this city to Wilkes-Barre on Saturday in a canoe. He started at noon from the Scranton street bridge and took with him a pair of rubber boots so that he could carry his canoe over the shallow spots in the river.

Tonight the popular and talented Silver Lake Quartette with Rev. G. H. Wood, lecturer, will be at the Frothingham. The advance sale of seats has been large. There are 200 reserved seats on sale at Gurney's to-day at 25 cents each. Admission to the gallery which comfortably seats 600, will be 15 cents.

The hayrack on Saturday signed the following ordinance: "Providing for the jolting of live foot long snags, setting curbs and paving gutters on Main street between Jackson and Pettibone streets; Providing for sidewalks in front of certain properties on Academy street, Hyde Park and Main avenues; providing for sidewalks on Follows street, between Main and Twenty-second street.

A spirited horse attached to a new double-seated carriage owned by Outside Superintendent John Fern of the Arch-bald breaker, ran away Saturday about noon at the court house square. In front of the Burr building it struck the equipage of Architect Waters and damged it to the extent of two broken wheels, which Mr. Fern compensated the owner for. At Lackawanna avenue the horse was completely wrecked.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Held at the Green Ridge Baptist Church yesterday.

A very successful Convention in the interests of the Sunday school was held at the Green Ridge Baptist church yesterday. The convention opened with a paper read by Rev. S. Davies, "How May the Sunday School Be Increased." Mr. Chamberlain having read a paper upon the same subject, a general discussion followed, in which C. C. Johnson urged the holding of a monthly meeting of teachers.

J. T. Pritchard advocated competitions and rewards for attendance and Mrs. Pritchard gave a specimen of the work of the Infant department.

J. B. Brady read an interesting paper upon "How should the Sunday school be conducted," in which he illustrated that it would be impossible to govern the Sunday school by cast iron rules the same as a military body. As rules were a body of volunteers it was necessary to adapt themselves accordingly. J. W. Hughes followed upon the same subject in which he urged that the officers and teachers should be thoughtful and prayerful people, they should be earnest, as it begets enthusiasm and all should work together with independent action little is accomplished.

H. H. Langham continued the discussion.

Mrs. Jackson read an excellent paper, "How May Scholars Be Kept in the Sunday School?" Mrs. Harvey followed upon the same subject, followed by Mrs. Hughes, who advocated the teachers inviting the scholars to their homes on week days, and W. Marks referred to the work of Evangelist Schiverra and was followed by the Rev. W. J. Ford, who in closing the convention, made an admirable review of the discussions and laid great stress upon teachers sacrificing more time in the interests of their scholars, to inquire into their home life and study their lives.

The superintendent, S. V. Hall, presided over the deliberations, which were followed with keen interest by a crowded church.

POLITICAL JOTTINGS.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Republican county committee was held Saturday afternoon at headquarters.

Today an effort will be made by the Democratic county committee to complete its ticket by the selection of candidates for the legislature and senate.

Democratic headquarters are being rapidly put into presentable shape and Chairman Roche and his lieutenants are actively engaged in perfecting their plans for the campaign.

The ratification meeting at Tompkinsville Saturday afternoon drew an immense crowd of voters from that part of the county. There was much enthusiasm and the speakers were warmly applauded.

Chairman Ripple and Secretary Miller, of the Republican county committee, are a pair of earnest, systematic workers who leave nothing to chance. The party was fortunate, indeed, in securing their services.

Hon. M. T. Burke is maintaining a discreet silence just now about the free text book bill and his attitude toward it. Persons who possess good memories have been assailing him with unpleasant questions concerning it.

A large number of men were naturalized last week, but this week there will be a big rush on the part of candidates for citizenship, as next Saturday is the last day on which a person can be naturalized and be entitled to a vote at the November election.

Republicans who want to become thoroughly conversant with matters pertaining to the campaign should call at Republican headquarters where Secretary W. S. Miller will be pleased to put into their possession valuable documents that every voter should peruse before casting his ballot in November.

Tomorrow evening the campaign will be formally opened in this city at the big ratification meeting to be held in the Frothingham theater under the auspices of the Central Republican club. It is a public meeting, and every man who has an interest in the campaign now in progress should attend and listen to the issue of the day discussed by eloquent and able speakers.

The Elmira Telegram has the following to say of Charles P. O'Malley, the young lawyer who is a candidate for the legislature in the Fourth district: "Charles P. O'Malley, who has been nominated by the Republicans in the Fourth district, is a bright, active, energetic, young Irish-American, who won his way from the coal mine to the Lackawanna bar. He is decidedly popular among the younger element of the district, and although his opponent, Hon. M. T. Burke, starts out with a majority of 800 and is an old war horse in Democracy, the young man's admirers are confident of his victory."

Wood's College of Business and Short-hand.

We are grateful to our friends, to the old students and to the business men who have aided us so materially.

To have September of 1894 lead all former months in point of numbers and volume of business is a source of great joy to the management.

ROMANCE OF THE STAGE

California Business Man Weds an Actress in Scranton.

THEY WERE SECRETLY MARRIED

Pretty, Dark-Eyed May Hillman, of The Burglar Company, Which Appeared at the Frothingham Friday Night, Becomes the Wife of Ernest H. Schnabel, Who is Young and Wealthy—The Ceremony Was Performed in the Rectory of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

An interesting romance of two years standing reached its climax in this city Friday afternoon by the marriage of Miss May Hillman, an actress in "The Burglar" company, which played at the Frothingham, and Ernest H. Schnabel, a young business man of San Jose, Cal. The marriage ceremony, which was performed by Rev. F. S. Ballantine in the rectory of the Church of the Good Shepherd, at Green Ridge, is known to the members of "The Burglar" company, and the manager, A. Q. Seaman, was in ignorance of the interesting episode until informed of the affair by a TRIBUNE reporter.

The various circumstances associated with the romance are unusual and would furnish material for a latter-day novel. The details include the family history of the lovelorn young man, who belongs to an old and wealthy California house, his infatuation for the young lady, her reciprocity, obstacles, and a final and bold stroke to settle the matter in marriage.

Ernest H. Schnabel is 23 years of age and is engaged principally in the real estate business at San Jose, Cal., although in his application for a marriage license he appears as a law student. His parents are wealthy and his father has retired and lives on the income from fortunate investments. After his college life young Schnabel traveled abroad and has been in many out-of-the-way corners of the globe.

When he had reached his majority he overcame the wishes of his father that he should begin an ordinary business career, and embarked in the theatrical line as a manager.

IT WAS A FAD WITH HIM.

It was more of a fad with him than a necessity, he had plenty of money and the elder Schnabel wanted to let the young man burn some of it in the hope that he would then see the wisdom of a more settled and practical career.

Last year was young Schnabel's first season as a theatrical manager, and during the period he met and fell in love with the actress and the sweet-mannered little actress, May Hillman. The company was known as the Clay Clement company and played "The Bells," which Irving has made famous, and "The New Dominion."

Whether the theatrical venture proved peculiarly successful or not does not appear, but it was no secret that the rich and youthful manager paid constant and devoted worship at the shrine of the little actress. He knew that the professional life of the object of his affections would not be received with favor by his parents, so when the season closed Miss Hillman came east and her lover returned to California with the maternal understanding that this autumn he should come East and marry her.

About the middle of September Mr. Schnabel, to use his own words, "sent a telegram to himself to come east," and joined "The Burglar" company at Schenectady, N. Y., last week Monday and has accompanied it to Scranton.

When they reached Scranton on Friday the young couple determined to be made man and wife and after securing a marriage license from the clerk of the courts repaired to the rectory of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Green Ridge where the nuptial knot was tied with no witnesses save the pastor's wife and children.

The company left the city early Saturday morning on a route which included Carbondale, Honesdale, Montrose and Tunkhannock. On Oct. 8 they will reach Philadelphia, and after a week's engagement there Mr. and Mrs. Schnabel will leave for the groom's home in California.

WHY MARRIAGE WAS SECRET.

The reasons for keeping the marriage secret from even the members of the company was to guard against its being communicated to the parents in California and the possible disinheritance of Mr. Schnabel. In such a case the actress-wife might possibly receive an unpaternal reception or no reception at all. On the other hand if the couple can reach the groom's home unharmed there is no doubt that the bride can ingratiate herself and receive a proper blessing.

Miss Hillman is 23 years of age and is known in the profession as one of "The Hillman Sisters." Her real name is May Brian and she is a daughter of Mrs. George H. Hammond, of Washington, D. C. She is a petite little body of the brunette type, has a satiny tress to a head covered with curly black hair and looks at you with mirthful and twinkling hazel eyes. Her features are regular and pretty, she has a well-rounded and firm figure and in substance her tout ensemble attracts one.

Wherever the company has played since leaving Schenectady Mr. Schnabel has attended the performance of "The Burglar" and occupied a seat well forward so he could feast his eyes upon his fiancée to his heart's content. This fact suggests an irony upon the romantic story.

Miss Hillman impersonates Fanny Hamilton, the daughter of a retired merchant, and according to the plot is supposed to be married sub rosa to a law student impersonated by Tommy Russell, of "Lord Fauntleroy" fame. "The Burglar" accounts with scenes of affection between the two, which would make Mr. Schnabel, the real lover, squint in his seat were he not a very practical young man. He watched the performance of Friday night with intense interest from an orchestra chair not many rows distant from the footlights, but seemed rather ill at ease while Tommy Russell was bestowing cold-blooded carresses upon the bride of only a few hours.

TWO WEEKS OF CRIMINAL COURT.

Trial List Shows That 287 Cases Are Ready for Court.

The October term of criminal court, lasting two weeks, begins today. The trial list, containing 287 cases, was completed on Saturday by District Attorney Kelly.

The majority of the cases are of the very trivial order and many of them will undoubtedly be continued for settlement. Although it is the biggest batch of indictments for one term in the criminal history of Lackawanna county, still there are no very serious cases to be tried. The first case of the week will be that of the two burglars,

THE RIVER ITS GRAVE

Body of an Infant Found in the Bed of the Lackawanna.

SOMEONE'S ACT OF BARBARISM

Post-Mortem Examination Showed That Life Had Left the Little Body Before Being Cast into the Water. Four Providence Lads Made the Ghastly Find While Playing Along the Bank Yesterday.

Another act which can be added to the already large list of similar inhumanities perpetrated in and about the city of late was the casting of an infant's dead body into the Lackawanna river, presumably at some point above Providence. The remains were found by four lads yesterday afternoon while playing along the river bank near the Driving park bridge. It developed later that the same ghastly find was made by two little girls a week ago, but they were too frightened to make the fact known.

Frank Lameroux, Eddie Howells, Frank Clark and Tommy Labouza found a 5-pound lard pail near the water's edge and upon being kicked by one side the partly decomposed body of a babe rolled out upon the shore. After hovering morbidly about the object for a moment the lads ran across the field to Main avenue and notified the police.

Coroner Kelley arrived later and held an inquest on the river bank after impelling the following jury: George Bart, E. J. Burke, F. Morris, Joseph Holdham, William Shay and John Labour. Apparently the child had been old enough to have been alive, but whether it had been drowned or not could only be determined by the post mortem test which was made before the jury in the Providence police station. The lungs sank when placed in the water, arguing that they had never contained air, but there remained a possibility that the little life may have been strangled on its immediate admission into the world.

Substantially the jury's verdict was that the child was born dead. They also censured parties unknown for casting the child into the river in a barbaric fashion instead of giving it a human burial.

MEETING OF SCHOOL PRINCIPALS.

Special Session to Consider Adoption of Wells' Penmanship System.

The principals of the public schools of Lackawanna county met at Olyphant on Saturday afternoon to discuss the advisability of introducing into the school curriculum the Wells system of penmanship. The session was called to order at 2 o'clock and was presided over by County Superintendent Taylor. Besides the superintendents of Carbondale about fifty male principals were present.

Professor Wells, recent manager of Eastman's business college, Poughkeepsie, was present and spoke of the system of penmanship which bears his name. It has been adopted by the Scranton board of control and receives favorable recommendations from Superintendent Phillips. After a general discussion on the merits of the system it was unanimously agreed to recommend the adoption in all of the schools of the county.

Other educational topics were brought to the consideration of the meeting and discussed in a general way.

UNION EX-PRISONERS OF WAR.

Their Annual Reunion and Banquet Will Be Held in Scranton, Oct. 25.

The annual meeting of the Association of Union Ex-Prisoners of the War of Lackawanna county will be held at the rooms of Ezra Griffin Post, No. 139, Grand Army of the Republic, on Oct. 25 and will be followed by a banquet in the evening at Hanley's dining rooms, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot.

The meeting of the association will begin at 2 o'clock for the election of officers, payment of dues and the transaction of such business as may come before it.

A circular of information has been directed to all members by Colonel E. H. Rippe, secretary of the association. Each comrade is urged to attend and invite any ex-prisoner who may not be a member of the association.

Old friendships will be renewed and new ones formed, and at the banquet, which begins at 8 o'clock, a programme of substantial enjoyment is assured.

T. H. C. MALONEY IN TROUBLE.

He Is Accused of Attempted Assault on a Little Girl.

Officer Saltry was called to the Roma Hotel, on lower Lackawanna avenue, early Saturday morning, to arrest T. H. C. Maloney, local representative of the Harrisburg Telegram, who, it is alleged, had entered the sleeping room of a 12-year-old girl, Rosa Arigon, daughter of Ferdinand Arigon, of Penn avenue, and made an attempt to criminally assault her.

The girl's screams brought Mr. Carrese, proprietor of the hotel, to her room, where Maloney was found in an intoxicated condition.

He was arraigned before Alderman Fuller, who committed him to jail, the law requiring that bail for such an offense must be given before a judge of the county.

SOME INFORMATION FOR TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS.

Such has been the demand for long distance telephones on the circuit, that many subscribers are seriously annoyed at the change of numbers which necessarily follow. The metallic circuits on which a subscriber is placed, being in many cases another portion of the switchboard. To meet this difficulty the Telephone company very recently issued a new list of subscribers and will soon issue another, and in the meantime the operators are notified from day to day of any change, and instructed to watch for calls by the old numbers as well as the new.
